Baldrige Indicted By Grand Jury Here For Killing Patrick

Second Degree Manslaughter Indictment Returned Against Buskirk For Crash Deaths

George Baldrige today is under indictment for the second degree murder of Irvin J. Patrick.

The Fayette County grand jury, which reported at 3:15 P. M. Monday, found that Baldrige, a wealthy Fayette County farmer, had "unlawfully, purposefully and maliciously" killed Patrick, the Fayette County game protector, about an hour after the hunting season opened last Nov. 15.

Baldrige came to Washington C. H. that morning and surrendered to Sheriff Orland Hays. Sheriff Hays said, at the time, that Baldrige had told him he shot Patrick after he had arrested D. B. Butler of Seaman for having hen pheasants in his possession. However, the sheriff said the 63-year-old Baldrige had told him the shot was fired accidentally.

Police Warn: Do Not Drive

Snowfall Light But Some Roads Slick

If you don't have to drive, stay home.

That's the word to Fayette County drivers from the Sheriff's office here and the Wilmington State Highway Patrol station.

With a bit less than an inch of snow collected by noon Tuesday, State Highway Dept. crews had salted and plowed most major highways. But smaller roads were still slick.

Two schools—the Wilson and Staunton Schools — were ordered closed Tuesday by their principals, according to Miami Trace School District Supt. W. W. Boyer. As for the other schools in the district closing or letting kids out early, or closing schools Wednesday, is up to the principals at the individual schools.

There are a couple of ways parents may find out if there is school in bad weather, Boyer said. They may call him at his home. And if the school bus doesn't arrive at the bus stop on schedule, it's a good indication school is closed for the day.

Attendance at schools in Washington C. H. were "normal" Tuesday, according to Supt. W. A. Smith.

THE STATE Highway Patrol said patrolmen were "discouraging unnecessary travel" because of the danger of somewhat slick roads. But right now the men of the Wilmington station are just "hanging on", waiting to see what the weather will decide to do.

Sheriff's Deputy Bob MacArthur said here that, although the main highways in the county are pretty clear, small roads are slick. He cautioned "if you have to drive, take it easy."

It's that time of year again boys . . . the time of year for the annual sausage supper for Men's Night next Thursday at the Country Club.

The sausage supper was started back in . . . well nobody is sure just what year it was . . . by the late Walter McCoy. It was his own sausage, sausage made by him from the pork that he had raised on his farm on the Lewis Pike.

It soon came to be the supper that everyone looked forward to . . . and there has not been a disappointment since. The first Men's Night supper in January was the sausage supper with "McCoy Special" sausage.

After his death, the committee carried on the custom but, of course, it had to look elsewhere for the sausage. But, not just any sausage would do; the committees always have made a project of finding the best for this supper.

There have been some changes in the committee membership through the years, but not in the supper menu.

On the committee which is now getting ready for Thursday night's sausage supper are Paul Pennington, John Gerstner, Charles Dunton, Charles Cummings, Tom Murray and George Fitzgerald.

Hillsboro Educators, Judge To Huddle On Race Question

HILLSBORO (AP)—U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel and the Hillsboro Board of Education will huddle tomorrow on whether to complete integration in the Hillsboro schools by September.

The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals last Thursday directed Druffel to order the end of segregation by that time. But Druffel said he would refuse to lay down such an edict unless the school board said it could comply with the order.

School board members met last night but decided to withhold a decision until tomorrow's conference in Cincinnati with the jurist.

Charles J. Francis of Dayton, president of the Ohio branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said board members should tell Druffel what should be done rather than have him tell them.

"It's your responsibility, not Druffel's," Francis said.

Florida Crop Damage Runs Into Millions; New England Flooded

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An unusual eastward flow of air currents today was bringing Ohio part of a storm which already has plagued the southeastern part of the nation with its coldest winter in years. Damage to crops in Florida alone was estimated in the millions of dollars.

Meanwhile, more rain, snow and sleet pelted wide areas in eastern sections of the country. The icy weather was blamed for more than a dozen deaths on northeast highways and sidewalks.

Rain continued in New England and the Middle Atlantic states. There was rain, snow and freezing drizzle in the eastern Great Lakes region, the eastern and central parts of the Ohio Valley and the western sections of Virginia and North Carolina.

Rains continued to lash the New England area and the forecast was for more rainy and windy weather through tomorrow, bringing a threat of floods in some sections.

ONE OF THE most seriously threatened flood area was in southern New Hampshire where the Contoocook river and Bubanusit Brook overflowed and isolated at least one residential area around the Peterborough and Jaffrey areas.

Further south in New Jersey, wind-whipped seas pounded the state's coastal areas, combining with abnormally high tides to cause extensive flooding conditions.

Atlantic City was partially cut off from the mainland by flooding of a principal traffic artery, the White Horse Pike.

There was flooding at the north end of Absecon Island. Water was hub deep at the doors of the Atlantic City Press Building.

It was colder this morning in Miami (43 above) than in Portland, Maine, where the reading was 44. Miami suburban areas reported below freezing — 29 degrees. Temperatures dropped into the 30s as far south as Mobile, Ala., and West Palm Beach, Fla.

In Florida, heavy damage was reported to tomatoes, beans, watermelons, peppers, eggplant and sweet corn from the Lake Okeechobee region south to the Florida Keys. A farm official estimated damage at $10 million.

CITRUS CROPS, now in the midst of harvesting, appeared to have escaped serious damage. Growers, however, were warned to protect against continued cold.

Scattered heavy frosts formed in the Everglades in all area except Pahokee. Even the usual balmy lower east coast suffered frost damage away from the coast.

It was so cold in Broward County that schools were closed.

"It is one of the longest cold spells in some time and I don't see any letup in it," reported Warren O. Johnson, meteorologist of the federal-state frost warning service at Lakeland.

Miami's 42 degrees was the lowest on record for Jan. 1.

City School Appropriations Made

School Board members do not reflect the seriousness of their thoughts; soon after this picture was snapped, their brows were furrowed as they wrestled with the annual appropriations. This special meeting was the first official meeting for three members of the board, Elmer Reed, Milbourne Flee and Charles Pensyl although they have been attending many previous meetings as observers to familiarize themselves with the board's duties and school's problems. Corn Show Is Discontinued Because 'Its Job Is Done'

There will be no Corn Show in Fayette County this year.

A tradition here for more than 30 years, the show will be dropped this year by both its sponsors, the county Seed Improvement Association and the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce.

In a joint statement, Secretary Paul Smith of the Association and General Manager Glen Allen of the Chamber announced that the two organizations had agreed that "the Corn Show has fulfilled its original obligation."

The show has been outdated with the sweeping changes that have taken place in agriculture during the past 20 years, they felt.

"Most of the farmers used to grow their own seed," explained Smith. "The Corn Show gave them a chance to compare their seed and find out what the top varieties were. Now almost everyone buys hybrid seed from companies specializing in developing special strains."

The tremendous number of shows across the state some 30 years ago had dwindled to the point where Fayette County's Corn Show was among the last local shows left in the state, Allen said. With a handful of exceptions, the only shows still in business are held in conjunction with county fairs and the State Fair.

THE BANQUET held in conjunction with the Corn Show is also to be discontinued, now that the show itself — around which the dinner centered — will be dropped.

One of the few events of its kind in the nation, the banquet brought together the city's business and professional men and those of the rural areas. Awards were made at the dinner, with the champion corn exhibitors winning premiums put up in many cases by the city's merchants.

Allen and Smith stressed that discontinuing the show was a matter of agreement between the members of the Seed Improvement Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

"It wasn't a case of one dropping the other," Smith said. "We both felt the show had finished its job."

Allen and Smith both pointed out that the long and successful series of shows here has been due to the whole-hearted cooperation of farmers and businessmen. Both expressed ed their thanks to the men, who cooperated "to make the show a success year after year."

IN ITS early years, the Corn Show was held in late January. Later, the show was given in February to avoid conflict with co-operating merchants' inventory operations.

The last Corn Show was held in March, 1955. While the entry list was "one of the largest in some time," Smith said, many farmers confided they had little to show except standard hybrid varieties.

The decision of the Chamber and the Seed Improvement Association to drop sponsorship of the Corn Show leaves the field open to any other groups that might want to take it over, Smith said.

"I doubt if anybody would want to, though," he added. "It's done its job."

Benson Says Surplus Farmer's Big Problem

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today "mountainous surpluses" constitute the No. 1 problem facing American farmers.

In a speech for the American National Cattlemen's Assn., Benson said economists estimate farm prices would now be 10 per cent higher and net farm income might have been 20 per cent higher in 1955 if the government-owned surplus of farm goods was not on hand.

Benson, as did President Eisenhower in his special farm message to Congress yesterday, said wartime production incentives were continued too long.

Benson said the soil bank proposal recommended to Congress as a major feature of the new administration program is a "bold plan that strikes directly at the problem," he added.

"We can give no hard and fast estimate of how much the soil bank will improve prices."

The soil bank proposal is designed to reimburse farmers for taking land out of the production of crops already in surplus and divert it to grass and trees.

"It will remove the crushing burden of surpluses that is our most serious farm problem," Benson said. "It will prevent a diversion of acres out of surplus crops and into other products."

He stressed, however, that it is regarded as a temporary measure, adding that in the not too distant future "we will need much greater output of farm products than we have today."

"These are troubled times for families on our farms and ranches," Benson said.

"Our nation has been blessed with unprecedented prosperity. But it is a prosperity in which families on the land have not adequately shared."

"We must free the farm economy from the distortion that has roots in wartime needs. The production incentives were continued too long. We must provide means for cutting down surpluses."

"We must widen markets. We must help farmers and ranchers cut costs, balance production and increase their incomes. Farm people deserve their fair share of this nation's prosperity."

Benson said the system of flexible farm price supports which the administration persuaded Congress to adopt two years ago is essential but inadequate to cope fully with the problem.

"First," he said, "it only began to take hold with the harvests of 1955. Still more important, its operation is smothered by the pressure of surplus stocks amassed under the old program."

Trapped Dog Rescued Alive

4½ Days Under Dirt Pile Fails Hurt Pup

SEATTLE (AP)—Nobody had really expected to find Bonnie alive. The little 2-year-old wire-haired terrier had been buried for 4½ days when she bounded into the arms of her master Jim Sneddon here yesterday.

The story of a man and his love for a dog started grimly last Thursday. A great mound of rain-loosened dirt smashed into Sneddon's home.

Sneddon's 10-year-old daughter Heather was buried alive for 15 minutes in her bedroom before Sneddon, a University of Washington photographer, clawed his way to her and lifted her to safety.

Sneddon and his wife considered themselves lucky to escape with their lives. But they mourned too for Bonnie, trapped in the basement when the slide roared into the house.

Sneddon, 36, taken to the hospital with minor injuries, told his wife that some way, somehow, he would dig out his dog.

Immediately on his release from the hospital the following day, he went to the house.

"I called to Bonnie and she didn't answer. I saw how the entire floor had caved in and how impossible it seemed to find her alive."

THEN, YESTERDAY, Sneddon received a telephone call from an unidentified woman who said she had heard a dog barking under the ruins of his home.

Sneddon raced to the demolished home. He grabbed a shovel and he started digging.

"I could hear Bonnie whining, not barking, just whining."

His wife Irene got four other men to help him dig.

Three hours later, one of the men reached into an air pocket between two timbers and pulled forth a gaunt but otherwise uninjured Bonnie.

The little terrier scrambled up a mudbank from the ruins of the house into Sneddon's waiting arms.

$473,668 Total For Operations Here Next Year

Building Bond Issue To Be Submitted To People In November

Appropriations amounting to $473,668.84 for operating expenses of the Washington C. H. schools this year and $9,850 for bond retirement and interest were approved by the school board at a special meeting Monday afternoon. The total appropriations added up to $483,518.84.

The appropriations for operating expenses were only $1,601.04 more than last year's total and only $172.50 more was appropriated for bond retirement and interest this year than last.

This was the first official meeting for three members of the board since they took the oath of office Jan. 2—Elmer Reed, Charles Pensyl and Milbourne Flee. It also was the first meeting presided over by Robert Terhune, the new president of the board. William A. Lovell is the other veteran member of the board.

While the board devoted most of its time to the appropriations, it did take time to make one major decision—to submit a bond issue for school buildings to the voters at next November's regular election. The amount of the issue and the building program are to be worked out later.

The resignation of William Dawes as custodian at the Sunny-side School was accepted.

The school's financial year runs from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31. The appropriations were made to meet the budget that had been made out last July.

The biggest slice of the operating funds goes into salaries for teachers. They amount to $326,531.07 which is 69.24 percent of the total.

THE APPROPRIATIONS were summarized in 12 categories: Administrative salaries and wages $14,890 (3.15 percent); teacher salaries $326,531.07 (69.24 percent); coordinate activities (attendance officer) $1,028 (.22 percent); Auxiliary agencies $6,614.66 (1.4 percent); Personal service (janitors and engineers) 42,195 (2.01 percent); Special services $150 (.03 percent); Supplies (books, working materials, heat, etc.) $29,007.22 (6.15 percent); Material for maintenance $3,300 (.7 percent); Equipment replacement $11,000 (2.33 percent); Contract and open order service $24,759.67 (4.82 percent) and fixed charges and contributions $4,718.22 (1 percent).

While these 12 categories cover the budget—and the appropriations—the board had 11 typewritten pages of the detailed figures to show where every dollar and every penny would go. These detailed figures also gave the comparisons with the previous year's expenditures.

For example: The $29,007.22 for supplies was the sum of 17 appropriations that ranged all the way from heat for the buildings to materials for the home economics, vo-ag, music, industrial arts and auto mechanics as well as text books and gasoline and oil for school buses.

The appropriations included $2,900 for the salaries of two additional high school teachers the board anticipates will be needed because of the increased enrollment next year. One would teach English and history and the other industrial arts. Another appropriation of $1,200 was made for an elementary teacher the board anticipates will be here next year. These appropriations would cover only four months, starting next September and running to the end of the year.

PROVISION for substitute teachers was made with an appropriation of $2,500 and for home tutoring with an appropriation of $2,000.

An appropriation of $2,083 was made for an elementary school supervisor (a sort of roving principal, such as recommended by the state Department of Education) and another appropriation of $1,332 was made for a remedial reading teacher. However, the board agreed to make further studies of these two positions before reaching the final decision.

An appropriation of $1,000 was made for a special teacher. (Please turn to page two)

This southwestern Ohio city with a population of 5,100 has 78 Negro children of elementary school age. FORTY-SEVEN are attending classes at the all-Negro Lincoln school and 11 are assigned to the Washington and Webster schools, that leaves 20 who are getting no schooling because of their parents' objections to their being sent to Lincoln. There are about 830 Webster-Washington students.

Junior and high school students long have attended racially integrated classes.

4 1/2 Days Under Dirt
Pile Fails Hurt Pup

SEATTLE (P)—Nobody had really expected to find Bonnie alive. The little 2-year-old wire-haired terrier had been buried for 4 1/2 days when she bounded into the arms of her master Jim Sneddon here yesterday.

The story of a man and his love for a dog started grimly last Thursday. A great mound of rain-loosened dirt smashed into Sneddon's home.

Sneddon's 10-year-old daughter Heather was buried alive for 15 minutes in her bedroom before Sneddon, a University of Washington photographer, clawed his way to her and lifted her to safety.

Sneddon and his wife considered themselves lucky to escape with their lives.

But they mourned too for Bonnie, trapped in the basement when the slide roared into the house.

Sneddon, 36, taken to the hospital with minor injuries, told his wife that some way, somehow, he would dig out his dog.

Immediately on his release from the hospital the following day, he went to the house.

"I called to Bonnie and she didn't answer. I saw how the entire floor had caved in and how impossible it seemed to find her alive."

THEN, YESTERDAY, Sneddon received a telephone call from an unidentified woman who said she had heard a dog barking under the ruins of his home.

Sneddon raced to the demolished home. He grabbed a shovel and he started digging.

"I could hear Bonnie whining, not barking, just whining."

His wife Irene got four other men to help him dig.

Three hours later, one of the men reached into an air pocket between two timbers and pulled forth a gaunt but otherwise uninjured Bonnie.

The little terrier scrambled up a mudbank from the ruins of the house into Sneddon's waiting arms.

Stiff Military Control Grips Jordan Capital After Riots

AMMAN, Jordan (P)—Armored cars moved through Amman's deserted streets at dawn today with loudspeakers blaring, "Remain in your houses."

The Jordan capital was under strict military control in the third day of a curfew following weekend violence by mobs demonstrating against the Baghdad Pact.

Arab legion troops with fixed bayonets patrolled the streets where crowds had attacked British and American offices.

King Hussein has called on the new government to enforce law and order. The government, the fourth since Britain urged the country to join the Baghdad Pact a month ago, took office yesterday with Samir Rifai as premier.

El Rifai promised not to lead the country into any pacts.

Since the Saturday riots normal life in Amman has been at a virtual standstill. The curfew is lifted for only two hours each day, when tens of thousands of the city's 200,000 people stream out with sacks and baskets to buy food.

No mail has entered or left the city since Saturday. Only official telephones calls are allowed. The army has taken over the postoffice.

There are no newspapers, no airline flights. It is impossible to enter or leave the city without a special pass.

There have been no more disturbances, however, and the curfew is expected to be relaxed.

Officials in Damascus announced today that Jordan has reopened its frontiers with Syria after a three-day closure.

$473,668 Total For Operations Here Next Year

Building Bond Issue
To Be Submitted To People In November

Appropriations amounting to $473,668.84 for operating expenses of the Washington C. H. schools this year and $9,850 for bond retirement and interest were approved by the school board at a special meeting Monday afternoon. The total appropriations added up to $483,518.84.

The appropriations for operating expenses were only $1,601.04 more than last year's total and only $172.50 more was appropriated for bond retirement and interest this year than last.

This was the first official meeting for three members of the board since they took the oath of office Jan. 2—Elmer Reed, Charles Pensyl and Milbourne Flee. It also was the first meeting presided over by Robert Terhune, the new president of the board. William A. Lovell is the other veteran member of the board.

While the board devoted most of its time to the appropriations, it did take time to make one major decision—to submit a bond issue for school buildings to the voters at next November's regular election. The amount of the issue and the building program are to be worked out later.

The resignation of William Daves as custodian at the Sunnyside School was accepted.

The school's financial year runs from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31. The appropriations were made to meet the budget that had been made out last July.

The biggest slice of the operating funds goes into salaries for teachers. They amount to $326,531.07 which is 69.24 percent of the total.

THE APPROPRIATIONS were summarized in 12 categories: Administrative salaries and wages $14,890 (3.15 percent); teacher salaries $326,531.07 (69.24 percent); coordinate activities (attendance officer) $1,028 (.22 percent); Auxiliary agencies $6,614.66 (1.4 percent); Personal services (janitors and engineers) 42,195 (2.01 percent); Special services $150 (.03 percent); Supplies (books, working materials, heat, etc.) $29,007.22 (6.15 percent); Material for maintenance $3,300 (.7 percent); Equipment replacement $11,000 (2.33 percent); Contract and open order service $24,759.67 (4.82 percent) and fixed charges and contributions $4,718.22 (1 percent).

While these 12 categories cover the budget—and the appropriations—the board had 11 typewritten pages of the detailed figures to show where every dollar and every penny would go. These detailed figures also gave the comparisons with the previous year's expenditures.

For example: The $29,007.22 for supplies was the sum of 17 appropriations that ranged all the way from heat for the buildings to materials for the home economics, vo-ag, music, industrial arts and auto mechanics as well as text books and gasoline and oil for school buses.

The appropriations included $2,900 for the salaries of two additional high school teachers the board anticipates will be needed because of the increased enrollment next year. One would teach English and history and the other industrial arts. Another appropriation of $1,200 was made for an elementary teacher the board anticipates will be here next year. These appropriations would cover only four months, starting next September and running to the end of the year.

PROVISION for substitute teachers was made with an appropriation of $2,500 and for home tutoring with an appropriation of $2,000.

An appropriation of $2,083 was made for an elementary school supervisor (a sort of roving principal, such as recommended by the state Department of Education) and another appropriation of $1,332 was made for a remedial reading teacher. However, the board agreed to make further studies of these two positions before reaching the final decision.

An appropriation of $1,000 was made for a school nurse. (Please turn to page two)

Chamber Hears Industry Plan

Directors Examine Stock Company Idea

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce heard a new report on plans for an Industrial Development Corporation at their meeting in the Chamber offices Monday evening.

Purpose of the corporation would be to buy and develop suitable industrial sites here so that representatives of the Chamber could offer complete sites to industries considering opening new plants.

The corporation would be financed by the sale of stock and would offer sites on a lease basis, with proceeds possibly going back into the corporation for development of additional rules.

Tom Murray, chairman of the committee in charge of developing plans for the corporation, reported that the committee may draw up as many as three alternative plans. The corporation best suited to the community's needs would then be set up.

Tom Mark, delegated to study fire insurance rates here with an eye to possible means of reducing them, reported that he had started work, but that further study was needed.

The group also discussed the Corn Show, which the Chamber has sponsored in cooperation with the Seed Improvement Association. The directors authorized Manager Glen Allen to discuss the show with Paul Smith, secretary of the Association.

As a result of that meeting, the Corn Show was discontinued on grounds that "its job is done."

An "Industrial Development Clinic" to be held Jan. 25 and 26 in the Neil House in Columbus was announced. Some members of the Chamber's industrial development committee or of the committee planning the Industrial Development Corporation may attend, Allen said.

Cleveland Getting Temporary Defense

RAVENNA (AP) — Temporary Nike stations are being sought by the Army to guard Cleveland before permanent installations are completed later this year.

Col. Henry P. Van Ormer, commander of the 67th Antiaircraft Artillery Group, said yesterday the area would be surveyed for emergency stations that would use mobile equipment. He said:

"This will give Cleveland, the Ruhr of America, some protection if the Russians decide to come this way. Right now the city is wide open to attack, without even a carbine to defend it."

made for band instruments, $1,100 for typewriter replacements, $2,500 for classroom teaching aids such as maps etc., and $1,500 for classroom desks.

Some of the bigger cuts from last year's appropriations were made for equipment replacements from $26,255.31 to $11,000 and in the contract and open order service (repairs etc.) from $36,147.15 to $24,759.67. Money allocated for school building repairs was cut from $19,118.89 to $7,009.67.

Money (estimated) for these appropriations will come from: real estate taxes $181,031.40 last year ($178,275.28); Personal taxes $49,569.53 (last year $51,719.94); Foreign tuition $35,000 (last year $34,934.75); personal tuition $1,000 (last year $914.49); Refunds $50 (last year $40.36); Rentals $900 (last year $896); Vocational education (through the state) $4,500 (last year $6,489.14); Home tutoring $800 (last year $872.23); Miscellaneous $500 (last year $423.46). Last year $9 was received from the sale of textbooks but nothing is expected from that source this year.

The $39,113 (last year $28,485.48) that goes into the Employee Retirement System (4,900) and Teachers Retirement System ($31,828) as the school's contribution shows up in the appropriations only as a bookkeeping operation because the money is deducted by the state from the Foundation payments before they are sent here. These are $9,128 more than last year.

The county auditor will deduct $875 for Workmen's Compensation, $500 for state examiner's expenses, $10 for delinquent taxes and $1,000 for election expenses when tax money is turned over to the schools.

KEEPERS OF 15,000 KEYS
Fifteen thousand families have provided The Dayton Power and Light Company with duplicate keys to their homes, so that meter readers can get in and read meters at the proper time, even when no one is at home.
Trusting us with their keys has made it possible for us to render a special service to the large number of households in our area in which everyone in the family works away from home during the day.
There have been occasions, too, when customers have had reason to be especially glad they had trusted us with the key to their homes. Meter readers have discovered fire in time to put it out. They have summoned aid for the ill and injured, and have found many ways to be helpful in emergencies—all because the customer trusted them with a key.
DP&L meter readers appreciate this customer confidence and cooperation that saves them time and extra trips, and helps maintain their reputation for prompt, courteous and efficient service.

Storm in County

M. Monday and were working all night. Tuesday morning there were eight crews on nine trucks—a total of 21 men—salting and plowing. Three trucks equipped with plows and six salt trucks were on the road.

State Highway Dept. men said there was no ice under the snow, but that the slush was slippery. No danger was foreseen except in the case of a heavy snowfall, which the salt could not melt quickly enough.

The Associated Press weather prediction for Ohio forecast temperatures between 28 and 35 Tuesday afternoon with occasional freezing rain Tuesday night changing to rain. Temperatures are expected to rise Wednesday.

School Operations

made for hand instruments, $1,100 for typewriter replacements, $2,500 for classroom teaching aids such as maps etc., and $1,500 for classroom desks.

Some of the bigger cuts from last year's appropriations were made for equipment replacements from $26,255.31 to $11,000 and in the contract and open order service (repairs etc.) from $36,147.15 to $24,759.67. Money allocated for school building repairs was cut from $19,118.89 to $7,009.67.

Money (estimated) for these appropriations will come from: real estate taxes $181,031.40 last year ($178,275.28); Personal taxes $49,569.53 (last year $51,719.94); Foreign tuition $35,000 (last year $34,934.75); personal tuition $1,000 (last year $914.49); Refunds $50 (last year $40.36); Rentals $900 (last year $896); Vocational education (through the state) $4,500 (last year $6,489.14); Home tutoring $800 (last year $872.23); Miscellaneous $500 (last year $423.46). Last year $9 was received from the sale of textbooks but nothing is expected from that source this year.

The $39,113 (last year $28,485.48) that goes into the Employee Retirement System (4,900) and Teachers Retirement System ($31,828) as the school's contribution shows up in the appropriations only as a bookkeeping operation because the money is deducted by the state from the Foundation payments before they are sent here. These are $9,128 more than last year.

The county auditor will deduct $875 for Workmen's Compensation, $500 for state examiner's expenses, $10 for delinquent taxes and $1,000 for election expenses when tax money is turned over to the schools.

KEEPERS OF 15,000 KEYS
Fifteen thousand families have provided The Dayton Power and Light Company with duplicate keys to their homes, so that meter readers can get in and read meters at the proper time, even when no one is at home.
Trusting us with their keys has made it possible for us to render a special service to the large number of households in our area in which everyone in the family works away from home during the day.
There have been occasions, too, when customers have had reason to be especially glad they had trusted us with the key to their homes. Meter readers have discovered fire in time to put it out. They have summoned aid for the ill and injured, and have found many ways to be helpful in emergencies—all because the customer trusted them with a key.
DP&L meter readers appreciate this customer confidence and cooperation that saves them time and extra trips, and helps maintain their reputation for prompt, courteous and efficient service.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a high school girl, 17, and my problem is about to drive me crazy. I am fat. Believe me, being a fat high school girl is just about the worst experience imaginable.

I am only asked out on dates when no one else is available; and when I do go out the boys think that just because I am fat I have no morals. They always act like taking me out is a big joke anyway.

I have tried dieting and exercise and just about everything, but my doctor says I have gland trouble and there's nothing can be done about it. I try to be jolly and pleasant around people to make up for it; but all it gets me is the comment that I am jolly and pleasant.

Mother won't sympathize with me either. She says I am just a big crybaby. You are probably going to tell me to forget about being fat, and to get out and join organizations and have a lot of fun. But you will have to do better than that, because I already belong to everything I can think of—which doesn't make me forget for a minute that I am fat.

I played on the girls' basketball team one year and it nearly embarrassed me to death to get out in front of all those people—with me wearing shorts and the smart, sleek boys yelling "Hey Fatty!" and things worse than that; so I quit. Please help me to solve my problem, because I have thought seriously of killing myself if things don't get better.

T. Y.: As I understand, overweight is symptomatic of pernicious emotional distress, usually. And in your case, the distress may begin in an unsatisfactory relationship with your mother. Indeed, that is where most anxiety disturbances begin.

Your sole reference, here, to your mother's "crybaby" appraisal of your crucified feelings about your fat, shows that she is pointedly, almost scornfully, indifferent to your sufferings in the matter. Which isn't the attitude of a normally devoted, helpfully interested, warmly sympathetic mother, of course.

A genuinely loving, intelligently helpful mother would be loyally in league with you to lick the overweight problem. She would be drafting and heading a series of campaigns to slim you down to proper size. Actually this is a duty parents owe children—to guard their wellbeing. A grossly overweight boy or girl is carrying a heavy cross, due to somebody's ignorance and/or neglect; and this cross is a drain on the youngster's physical and emotional health.

Natural Charm Seen

It is my inference that you are naturally very winsome, in looks and personality and sex appeal. This is suggested by several clues, as follows:

1. You do have dates—even if events signify you are second choice. The ordinary too-fat girl never gets a bid.
2. Boys want to make love to you, though wrapping their desire in jest. This means they are definitely attracted, despite your jumbo size; and are kidding in self-defense—half afraid of their cronies' ridicule, if it becomes known that they really like the person you are. (The average boy mentally associates the average fat girl with a comic valentine).

3. Another point in your favor is that you belong to every organization you can think of—including the basketball team until you quit. This talent for sociability indicates good heredity—a sound mind in a sound body, that gravitates to fellowship. So much for assets.

Hungers For Acceptance

Coming back to your problem, part of your trouble with boys—namely, their assumption that, because you are fat, you have no morals—undoubtedly is due to your deep hunger for loving acceptance. In short, your poor relationship with your mother makes you a beggar-of-crums in boy-girl relationships; and also drives you to overeat habitually—as if to appease your emotions via your stomach.

I doubt that your obesity is glandular; yet even if it is, modern medicine can control it—provided you cooperate, dependably.

My advice to you is to write to your state university school of medicine, mental hygiene clinic, in the capital city, and ask for a reference list of psychiatrists, or psychologists, or first-rate internists, in your locality—who might be competent to solve your problem.

Transformers Have Signals

Little Red Lights Warn Of Trouble

Have you ever seen a red light or a transformer serving your home?

If you have, it means that your electric needs have "outgrown" this transformer and The Dayton Power & Light Co. would like to know about it so corrections can be made immediately.

Transformers are enclosed in dark metal cylinders and are hung near the top of the utility pole. They reduce electricity of higher voltage down to the proper voltage that can be used in the home.

When homes add more appliances year after year, they gradually use more electricity. Eventually, they will overtax the transformers and the red signal light on the transformer comes on as a warning.

In the past few years DP&L has been installing these red signals on all the transformers it has rebuilt and installed. To date, over 20,000 transformers are equipped with these red signals. This represents an investment in excess of $100,000.

DP&L servicemen make periodic checks of transformers and constantly watch for these red signals. But electric users may see the red signals before the servicemen do. If so, they are urged to call the nearest DP&L office. This is one way DP&L can make the necessary corrections quicker.

Mike DiSalle Jovial About His Candidacy

He Expects To Face Bill O'Neill During November Ballot Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle exudes confidence that he will face Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill in the November pay-off election for governor.

The former Toledo mayor made it clear to newsmen during a Columbus visit that he expected to win the Democratic nomination in the May 8 primary.

And the wise cracking former OPA price controller picked O'Neill to gain the Republican nomination with this observation:

"He will be the first candidate I won't have to look up to."

O'Neill stands five feet two inches; DiSalle five feet five and one-half inches.

"Why, compared to him, I'm a giant," laughed the rotund DiSalle who is considerably under the poundage of his OPA days.

DiSalle said he was completely "non-partisan" about the Republican primary race between O'Neill and Lt. Gov. John W. Brown. "We don't care which one we beat," he cracked.

DiSalle shrugged off comment on the prospects of Robert W. Reider, Port Clinton publisher, and Mayor Frank Kryzan of Youngstown as opponents in the party primary. He expressed doubt that any Clevelanders would get into the gubernatorial race.

DiSalle waited until Gov. Frank J. Lausche announced for U.S. senator before jumping into the race to succeed him. When the Toledoan finally took out petitions last week, he was considerably behind the Republican campaigners.

At that time, O'Neill already had stacked in his office petitions bearing more than 20,000 signatures from all 88 Ohio counties. They included about 5,000 signatures from the Cleveland area. Since then about 50 petitions have come in daily.

But statute requires candidates to file not less than 1,000 nor more than 5,000 names by Feb. 8 to qualify for the nomination sweepstakes.

O'Neill announced last Nov. 21. Brown tossed in his hat officially on Nov. 30. But Brown, former Medina mayor, actually had been campaigning since soon after winning his second term as lieutenant governor. He continues to make speeches and personal appearances almost daily throughout the state.

Regardless of DiSalle's expectations, Brown's office said he already is booking appearances into July.

DiSalle, who failed to stop Republican U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker's re-election in 1952, promised a surprise campaign for the governor's chair. He said no other candidate had attempted such a campaign but declined to disclose details in advance.

The Communications Center Specialist Course, which is eight weeks in length, trains enlisted personnel to receive and process messages for distribution by electrical means of communication.

During his training, Pvt. McClaskie received a technical education worth thousands of dollars. He will now be reassigned to an active unit of the United States Army.

The Southeastern Signal School, a component of the Signal Corps Training Center, is located near Augusta, Georgia. This installation furnishes trained signal technicians to army units all over the world.

Mike DiSalle Jovial About His Candidacy

He Expects To Face Bill O'Neill During November Ballot Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle exudes confidence that he will face Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill in the November pay-off election for governor.

The former Toledo mayor made it clear to newsmen during a Columbus visit that he expected to win the Democratic nomination in the May 8 primary.

And the wise cracking former OPA price controller picked O'Neill to gain the Republican nomination with this observation:

"He will be the first candidate I won't have to look up to." O'Neill stands five feet two inches; DiSalle five feet five and one-half inches.

"Why, compared to him, I'm a giant," laughed the rotund DiSalle who is considerably under the poundage of his OPA days.

DiSalle said he was completely "non-partisan" about the Republican primary race between O'Neill and Lt. Gov. John W. Brown. "We don't care which one we beat," he cracked.

DiSalle shrugged off comment on the prospects of Robert W. Reider, Port Clinton publisher, and Mayor Frank Kryzan of Youngstown as opponents in the party primary. He expressed doubt that any Clevelanders would get into the gubernatorial race.

DiSalle waited until Gov. Frank J. Lausche announced for U.S. senator before jumping into the race to succeed him. When the Toledoan finally took out petitions last week, he was considerably behind the Republican campaigners.

At that time, O'Neill already had stacked in his office petitions bearing more than 20,000 signatures from all 88 Ohio counties. They included about 5,000 signatures from the Cleveland area. Since then about 50 petitions have come in daily.

But statute requires candidates to file not less than 1,000 nor more than 5,000 names by Feb. 8 to qualify for the nomination sweepstakes.

O'Neill announced last Nov. 21. Brown tossed in his hat officially on Nov. 30. But Brown, former Medina mayor, actually had been campaigning since soon after winning his second term as lieutenant governor. He continues to make speeches and personal appearances almost daily throughout the state.

Regardless of DiSalle's expectations, Brown's office said he already is booking appearances into July.

DiSalle, who failed to stop Republican U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker's re-election in 1952, promised a surprise campaign for the governor's chair. He said no other candidate had attempted such a campaign but declined to disclose details in advance.

Everybody Seems To Be Counting On "Ike"

Nearly everybody is waiting to learn the final decision by President Eisenhower on whether he will be a candidate again for the presidency. Evidence from all parts of the country seems to indicate that a majority of people want him as a candidate. They feel that he is safe and sound.

A friend, a few days ago, showed us an editorial clipping from the Wellsboro (Pa.) Gazette expressing a view which apparently has become very general. This editorial had the following comment on the subject which apparently is on the minds of most of the voters. It said:

"Recently GOP leaders in Pennsylvania spoke for their party by saying: 'We're counting on Ike.'"

"It came as a welcome word—because everyone is counting on Ike. This goes for solid Democrats as well as the ranks of the Republican party."

"A good Democrat was recently being ribbed about politics. Says the Republican: 'We'll have you voting for the Eisenhower team come next fall.' The Democrat answered: 'I won't argue about that—I have no quarrel.'"

"No man in our land has a quarrel with President Eisenhower. Men may point to instances where the president has been wrong—and groups may remember days when they failed to receive the treatment to which they had grown accustomed. But they cannot quarrel."

"Eisenhower and his cabinet officers have played the game squarely—so squarely that even faithful Republicans have grumbled because of the president's aloofness to the squabbles of our two-party system."

"Giving his lifetime of experience to the president has been Senator Walter George—a product of the deep South's Democratic nursery. Senator George, a man who has served his party throughout a lifetime, has left no doubt about his allegiance to the GOP President of the United States. And this feeling exists down through the rank and file of the Democratic party."

"Among President Eisenhower's critics are those in our South whose way of living has been altered by the federal government's order that the segregation of the races come to an end. It is natural that these people should feel deep resentment toward the change."

"Racial segregation in the South is deeply imbedded. It is an accepted thing and the entire order of living for generations has been geared to the recognition and enforcement of racial segregation. Even those who support it know that it is not a healthy thing—that it is against the principles of our nation. Yet they have upheld it because they were afraid to see a change."

"Under President Eisenhower's leadership, our federal government took the initiative in calling for an end to segregation. It was an act which no administration would want tied to its neck—but it was necessary. The change would have come either through peaceful means or through turmoil. The decision 'to work the thing out' was made."

"Another excellent instance of the President's willingness to face problems today and not put them off 'until later' lies in the current farm hub-bub. For years it has been the practice of the federal government to grease the axle with dollars—a mere treating of the symptoms. Deep-lying causes created by a global war and the arrival of our technological age have thrown the American farmer out of step."

"A free flow of dollars from our grandchildren's taxes will never be the answer to the farmer's problem. It was a fouled up mess that had to be faced—and licked. The day of reckoning could have been delayed until a time when our country was feeling the atmosphere of hard times. Our president chose to attack it in a day of prosperity."

"The Republican administration has met all problems squarely and on a sound business-like basis. They have not been afraid to answer the phone—the knock on the door. They have not sought the favor of any group or individual by failing to take unpopular steps."

"On the international scene, America is no longer being embarrassed as the result of amateurish jabs at the 'boogie-man'—the making of serious sounding noises over minor issues. The administration has recognized just one international problem—and that deals squarely with the sneaky attempts of Russia to gain global dominance through hate and fear."

"It is no longer America who makes excuses—it is Russia. Even today, Soviet leaders are resorting to personal attacks upon our president. And there can be no surer sign before the world that the swagger has been removed from their baggy-bottomed trousers."

"The dollar supply of the world and of the United States is another problem which our administration has handled with success. From outside our nation, prophets of many lands, a few years back, were smugly predicting that the United States was headed for the rocks. And within our own country, men echoed the cry and were tagged as the 'gloom and doom boys.'"

"Well, they were all wrong. A confident, alert government has worked with its people and the prosperity has continued. People are working, drawing good pay, buying what they please, and their sons and brothers are not dying in war."

"There is no quarrel with our president. The people believe in Eisenhower the man, statesman, and soldier in 1956 even more than they did in 1952, when they elected him as their president."

"Eisenhower's health has continued to improve. With God's blessings, he will once again be his grinning, hustling physical self. That is the hope of America."

"People are counting on Ike. They want him for their president. They know that if he feels physically able, that he will be there to answer their call . . . and they know just as surely that if the president consents to run, that he will be able."

"The Republican party is proud of the man whom they brought to the presidency. The Democratic party is proud of the president."

"Everybody likes Ike. Everybody's counting on Ike."

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Winter may turn out to be a dangerous season.

Nearly one-fifth of all accidental deaths are due to falls. Nearly half of the home fatalities are result of falls, most of which occur during the winter.

Strangely enough, many of these falls occur in the house, not on slippery walks and streets. Trampling snow and slush into the house will not only subject you to the homemaker's wrath, it will also make the floor slippery.

A Better Grip

Under most conditions, shoes with rubber heels will grip a floor better than those with leather heels. If the floor is wet, however, rubber may slip more easily than the others. Soft-soled slippers are as bad on slippery floors as stocking feet.

Most housewives want the floors to be nice and shiny, and, as a rule, it's safe to wax them. In fact, tests conducted by the Underwriters' Laboratories show that some floor waxes have less slip than the surfaces on which they are used. The secret, of course, is in doing the job correctly.

Clean Floors

Before applying the wax, make sure the floors are completely clear of soaps or detergents. Then apply the wax in a thin coat. Use only self-shining (water base) wax on asphalt floors and on all but the highest quality rubber tile.

All scatter rugs should be tacked down or equipped with good slip-proof underlays such as specially treated paper on rubber padding.

Stairways present special problems. A hall light, or a small light installed near the baseboard at the head of the stairs, might save someone from a bad tumble.

A Safe Place

Don't place a mirror at the foot of a stairway; it might be misleading. And above all else, don't leave anything lying on the stairs. Get a basket or box and place it in a safe place at the foot of the stairs. Then, instead of running upstairs with various items several times a day, place them in the box until you can take all in a single trip.

If you do feel yourself falling, relax and go limp, don't tense up and try to resist the impact. Then, try to roll as you hit. This may prevent a severe injury.

If you're subject to fainting spells or loss of consciousness from a physical defect you may be able to avert a fall by sitting down at the first sign of an attack.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. P. R.: Can fractures occur without injury?

Answer: At certain times, fractures occur due to bone disease in which the bone is eaten away, so that in the normal process of walking and moving, the bone may break or fracture.

Choir Singer Gulps Whiskey

NEW YORK (AP)—Marjorie Plamp, a young choir singer whose whisky intake for the last seven years totals 700 gallons, is no secret drinker, but she has a drinking secret.

Every day, five days a week year in and year out, she takes aboard an average of 25 two-ounce snifters of bourbon or about two full bottles.

Even the steadiest patron of the cup that cheers might wonder how a 5 feet 2 young lady weighing only 115 could put down all that stuff and remain clear-eyed and steady even if she came from Kentucky (which she does) and had two hollow legs (which she definitely doesn't).

The answer lies in Miss Plamp's drinking secret. She doesn't down the stuff. She merely swishes it around in her mouth for a few seconds, then spits it out.

"Yes, all of it," said Marjorie firmly. "Every drop."

She is, so far as she knows, the world's only fulltime lady whisky taster.

"And I love the work, every moment of it," she said. "I'd be lost without it."

For the benefit of those interested in seeking steady (and you do have to remain steady) employment in this interesting field, Miss Plamp offers little advice. Chance played a considerable role in her own career.

After graduating with a degree in chemistry from a girl's college in Louisville, she got a job nine years ago as a laboratory technician with a distillery.

"Two years later they made me taster," she said. "I have to taste about 20 to 30 samples a day of whiskeys in all conditions of aging, testing them for proof content, flavor, body, aroma and color."

"The taste test is indispensable. A whisky might pass a chemical test perfectly well but still taste mighty phoney."

Miss Plamp says she never takes a drink on the job and adds that, as a matter of fact, a distillery is one of the hardest places in the world for a fellow to cure a thirst.

"After every three samples, I and a half of whisky at one sitting to get a hangover from the fuel oil content alone," she said, smiling. "Do you know of anyone who does that?"

Miss Plamp sings alto in her church choir, her hobby is going on camping trips, and her current beau is a Princeton University English professor.

Has her unusual occupation had any unusual effect on her?

"Well, if I have a cold I have to let the samples pile up until I shake it and get my sense of smell back," she said.

"There's one other thing. I used to have a great deal of trouble with my teeth. But since I became a taster seven years ago I haven't developed a single new cavity."

She emphasized, however, she wasn't recommending whisky—rinsing the teeth 25 times a day as a substitute for a visit to the dentist. It merely has worked out that way with her.

Is It Education Or Propaganda?

By George Sokolsky

When the Treasury Department rejected the conservative organization, "For America," as an educational organization, entitled to income tax deductions for its contributors, it was within its rights because the Treasury alone is designated to make such decisions. The gist of the Treasury's ruling is based on the following paragraph:

" . . . The Internal Revenue Service takes the position that an organization which advances only a program of previously determined opinions about current problems with a view to creating favorable public sentiment is not educational within the meaning of the law. In furthering its objectives there must be a fair and full presentation of all pertinent facts and information upon which it bases its opinions, whereby the public may reach independent conclusions. To qualify for exemption as 'exclusively' educational, both the purposes and activities of an organization must be designed to disseminate knowledge and basic factual material rather than matter supporting only a previously determined opinion."

When one goes through the list of organizations which have been granted the privilege, it is shocking to find that apparently the right hand of the Treasury does not know what the left hand is doing.

For instance, "The Atlantic Union Committee, Inc." is engaged in political activities precisely of the same kind as "For America," but from an internationalist point of view. "For America" is nationalistic. Similarly the "Institute of Pacific Relations," which was so thoroughly investigated by Congress with unfavorable results, enjoyed a tax deduction for contributors. "The Fund for the Republic" engages in the same kind of activities.

The list is long and complex and might well be studied by a Congressional committee to determine whether legislation is not required defining more specifically on what terms income tax deductions should be granted.

The theory behind income tax deductions is that Americans should be encouraged to give to private charities, to hospitals, educational institutions, churches and for other good purposes. The donors may list such contributions and when contributions have been made to those organizations which have received authority from the Treasury, the donors may deduct the contributed amounts on their income tax returns. This is a procedure that is beneficial to the country, for otherwise, privately-financed institutions for the public welfare would have to close their doors.

After more than 20 years of attempted government operations in this field, the foremost American universities are still the privately-endowed and supported ones and the same is true of hospitals and medical schools. As for churches, it is to be hoped that the day never comes in this country when they are financed out of taxes. They should always be financed out of funds provided by their members, but the income tax is making everything of this kind so hard.

Like everything else, abuses come into the best ideas and income tax deductions for political actions groups are a violation of the objectives of the permitted deduction. Such an organization as "The Fund for the Republic" is a political actions group and contributions to it should not have been tax-free. On the other hand, if contributions to "The Fund for the Republic" are tax-free, then the same rule should be applied to "For America."

Obviously a rule should be applied uniformly in a free society. When an administration permits itself the whimsicality of favoritism, it engenders not only confusion but, in time, corruption.

It is not difficult to recognize that "For America" would be distasteful to the Eisenhower administration. It is managed by such Republicans as General Robert E. Wood, formerly head of Sears, Roebuck, and a consistent conservative Republican; Clarence Manion, former Dean of the College of Law at Notre Dame University, who had been appointed to high office by President Eisenhower and then dismissed because of his rejection of the Eisenhower team theory that membership on the team involved subordination of conscience; and General Bonner Fellers, a heroic figure in war but a conservative in politics. All these men were Taft Republicans and therefore are personally disliked by the present administration.

Apparently there is not similar dislike for left-wing or middle-of-the-road foundations or committees which also "educate" the American people politically. What is required is a rule and not a whim.

Most housewives want the floors to be nice and shiny, and, as a rule, it's safe to wax them. In fact, tests conducted by the Underwriters' Laboratories show that some floor waxes have less slip than the surfaces on which they are used. The secret, of course, is in doing the job correctly.

Clean Floors

Before applying the wax, make sure the floors are completely clear of soaps or detergents. Then apply the wax in a thin coat. Use only self-shining (water base) wax on asphalt floors and on all but the highest quality rubber tile.

All scatter rugs should be tacked down or equipped with good slip-proof underlays such as specially treated paper on rubber padding.

Stairways present special problems. A hall light, or a small light installed near the baseboard at the head of the stairs, might save someone from a bad tumble.

A Safe Place

Don't place a mirror at the foot of a stairway; it might be misleading. And above all else, don't leave anything lying on the stairs. Get a basket or box and place it in a safe place at the foot of the stairs. Then, instead of running upstairs with various items several times a day, place them in the box until you can take all in a single trip.

If you do feel yourself falling, relax and go limp, don't tense up and try to resist the impact. Then, try to roll as you hit. This may prevent a severe injury.

If you're subject to fainting spells or loss of consciousness from a physical defect you may be able to avert a fall by sitting down at the first sign of an attack.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. P. R.: Can fractures occur without injury?

Answer: At certain times, fractures occur due to bone disease in which the bone is eaten away, so that in the normal process of walking and moving, the bone may break or fracture.

Choir Singer Gulps Whiskey

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Marjorie Plamp, a young choir singer whose whisky intake for the last seven years totals 700 gallons, is no secret drinker, but she has a drinking secret.

Every day, five days a week year in and year out, she takes aboard an average of 25 two-ounce snifters of bourbon or about two full bottles.

Even the steadiest patron of the cup that cheers might wonder how a 5 feet 2 young lady weighing only 115 could put down all that stuff and remain clear-eyed and steady even if she came from Kentucky (which she does) and had two hollow legs (which she definitely doesn't).

The answer lies in Miss Plamp's drinking secret. She doesn't down the stuff. She merely swishes it around in her mouth for a few seconds, then spits it out.

"Yes, all of it," said Marjorie firmly. "Every drop."

She is, so far as she knows, the world's only fulltime lady whisky taster.

"And I love the work, every moment of it," she said. "I'd be lost without it."

For the benefit of those interested in seeking steady (and you do have to remain steady) employment in this interesting field, Miss Plamp offers little advice. Chance played a considerable role in her own career.

After graduating with a degree in chemistry from a girl's college in Louisville, she got a job nine years ago as a laboratory technician with a distillery.

"Two years later they made me taster," she said. "I have to taste about 20 to 30 samples a day of whiskies in all conditions of aging, testing them for proof content, flavor, body, aroma and color."

"The taste test is indispensable. A whisky might pass a chemical test perfectly well but still taste mighty phooey."

Miss Plamp says she never takes a drink on the job and adds that, as a matter of fact, a distillery is one of the hardest places in the world for a fellow to cure a thirst.

"After every three samples, I have to rest my taste buds for five minutes," she said. "I confine my drinking to purely social occasions, and I have a two-drink limit. That's my capacity."

Besides requiring monumental self-control, a professional whisky taster is under other limitations. He can't, for example, take samples home to his friends.

"There are 14 government men around to check on things," she remarked.

"I had to take a great deal of kidding when I first got this job, but now my acquaintances are used to it. No, my family doesn't mind. After all, I am a chemist."

Over the years Marjorie has become a real expert on bourbon. She denied that the fusel oil in bourbon causes the hangover one gets if he imbibes too freely.

"You'd have to drink a gallon

By Hal Boyle

and a half of whisky at one sitting to get a hangover from the fusel oil content alone," she said, smiling. "Do you know of anyone who does that?"

Miss Plamp sings alto in her church choir, her hobby is going on camping trips, and her current beau is a Princeton University English professor.

Has her unusual occupation had any unusual effect on her?

"Well, if I have a cold I have to let the samples pile up until I shake it and get my sense of smell back," she said.

"There's one other thing. I used to have a great deal of trouble with my teeth. But since I became a taster seven years ago I haven't developed a single new cavity."

She emphasized, however, she wasn't recommending whisky—rinsing the teeth 25 times a day as a substitute for a visit to the dentist. It merely has worked out that way with her.

Is It Education Or Propaganda?

By George Sokolsky

When the Treasury Department rejected the conservative organization, "For America," as an educational organization, entitled to income tax deductions for its contributors, it was within its rights because the Treasury alone is designated to make such decisions. The gist of the Treasury's ruling is based on the following paragraph:

" . . . The Internal Revenue Service takes the position that an organization which advances only a program of previously determined opinions about current problems with a view to creating favorable public sentiment is not educational within the meaning of the law. In furthering its objectives there must be a fair and full presentation of all pertinent facts and information upon which it bases its opinions, whereby the public may reach independent conclusions. To qualify for exemption as 'exclusively' educational, both the purposes and activities of an organization must be designed to disseminate knowledge and basic factual material rather than matter supporting only a previously determined opinion."

When one goes through the list of organizations which have been granted the privilege, it is shocking to find that apparently the right hand of the Treasury does not know what the left hand is doing.

For instance, "The Atlantic Union Committee, Inc." is engaged in political activities precisely of the same kind as "For America," but from an internationalist point of view. "For America" is nationalistic. Similarly the "Institute of Pacific Relations," which was so thoroughly investigated by Congress with unfavorable results, enjoyed a tax deduction for contributors. "The Fund for the Republic" engages in the same kind of activities.

The list is long and complex and might well be studied by a Congressional committee to determine whether legislation is not required defining more specifically on what terms income tax deductions should be granted.

The theory behind income tax deductions is that Americans should be encouraged to give to private charities, to hospitals, educational institutions, churches and for other good purposes. The donors may list such contributions and when contributions have been made to those organizations which have received authority from the Treasury, the donors may deduct the contribution amounts on their income tax returns. This is a procedure that is beneficial to the country, for otherwise, privately-financed institutions for the public welfare would have to close their doors.

After more than 20 years of attempted government operations in this field, the foremost American universities are still the privately-endowed and supported ones and the same is true of hospitals and medical schools. As for churches, it is to be hoped that the day never comes in this country when they are financed out of taxes. They should always be financed out of funds provided by their members, but the income tax is making everything of this kind so hard.

Like everything else, abuses come into the best ideas and income tax deductions for political actions groups are a violation of the objectives of the permitted deduction. Such an organization as "The Fund for the Republic" is a political actions group and contributions to it should not have been tax-free. On the other hand, if contributions to "The Fund for the Republic" are tax-free, then the same rule should be applied to "For America."

Obviously a rule should be applied uniformly in a free society. When an administration permits itself the whimsicality of favoritism, it engenders not only confusion but, in time, corruption.

It is not difficult to recognize that "For America" would be distasteful to the Eisenhower administration. It is managed by such Republicans as General Robert E. Wood, formerly head of Sears, Roebuck, and a consistent conservative Republican; Clarence Manion, former Dean of the College of Law at Notre Dame University, who had been appointed to high office by President Eisenhower and then dismissed because of his rejection of the Eisenhower team the day that membership on the team involved subordination of conscience; and General Bonner Fellers, a heroic figure in war but a conservative in politics. All these men were Taft Republicans and therefore are personally disliked by the present administration.

Apparently there is not similar dislike for left-wing or middle-of-the-road foundations or committees which also "educate" the American people politically. What is required is a rule and not a whim.

In what he billed as his first campaign speech last night, Brown told the Allen County Federated Republican Women's Club:

"What we have needed in Ohio for the last 12 years is leadership which will fight for a first class school system, not against it, and a leadership that is willing to raise the money to pay for such a system."

He said he supported state aid to education, as opposed to federal aid, on a "pay-as-we-go basis."

During that month, 10 mortgages amounting to $119,500 were recorded on 1152.34 acres of farm land. The ten releases during the month were on only 816.47 acres of land. They had a value of $26,700.

Brown Campaigns For Nod In GOP Governor's Race

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Republican Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, an announced candidate for governor, continues his campaign in Allen County today after his first policy address last night in which he backed increased state aid to education.

Brown is scheduled to speak tonight before the Alco Sertoma Club in Lima and the Republican Club of nearby Delphos.

In what he billed as his first campaign speech last night, Brown told the Allen County Federated Republican Women's Club:

"What we have needed in Ohio for the last 12 years is leadership which will fight for a first class school system, not against it, and a leadership that is willing to raise the money to pay for such a system."

He said he supported state aid to education, as opposed to federal aid, on a "pay-as-we-go basis."

by which so many insects survive: Eat, but not be eaten; work and fight; lay eggs and care for the young, which is the structure of all true insects to follow a common pattern, but differ in detail.

Mrs. Alkire also explained that plants manufacture food for all animal life, including human beings. Even strict meat eaters depend directly upon plants for food and survival.

In closing her talk she pointed out that no one should destroy a plant or an animal without first considering what part that plant or animal plays in the lives of all, that our conservation of nature depends upon how much we understand and wish to preserve.

The next meeting was planned for January 16 at the home of Mrs. Harry Fiechthorn with Mrs. Joe Rush and Mrs. Kirkpatrick in charge of the program for the evening.

During the social hour a dessert course was served in the dining room and the table was covered with a white linen cloth, centered with a beautiful arrangement of white shaggy mums and pink snap dragons.

Expansion Planned

CINCINNATI — Procter & Gamble Co. will employ an additional 500 persons when an expansion program at its headquarters for manufacturing administration and research is completed.

Middletown '5' Voted As Top Team In Ohio

Hamilton, Columbus
Tied For Second In Poll
Of High School Cagers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Middletown's mighty Middies, winners of Ohio's Class A high school basketball championship five times in the last 12 years, were rated the state's top team today in the first Associated Press poll of the campaign.

Although only 21 scribes participated in the opening vote, 10 of them gave the nod to Paul Walker's eight-game winners for a 50-point edge on the 10-9-8-etc balloting basis over Hamilton and Columbus East which deadlocked for second.

The three leaders have won eight of the last 12 state crowns, Middletown in 1944-45 and 1953-54, Hamilton in 1949 and 1954, and Columbus East in 1951.

Canton Timken, with a 9-0 mark, finished fourth and Gallopis (7-0) fifth. A surprising sixth were Portsmouth's Trojans, who have lost three of nine—but who handed Columbus East its first loss Saturday night.

Hamilton stayed up in the chase despite Friday's 81-79 loss to Middletown before more than 8,000 fans in Cincinnati Gardens, and Columbus East wasn't injured too much by the 38-50 loss to Portsmouth.

Rounding out the top 10 were Canton South (7-0), Newark (8-0), Alliance (5-1) and East Liverpool (5-2).

Three unbeaten teams, Cleveland East Tech and Mount Vernon with 8-0 marks, and Akron South with 5-0, deadlocked at 27 points for the 11th spot, each getting one first-place vote.

Zanesville's defending champions didn't get a nod, but Lockland Wayne's Class B titleholders finished well up in the "minor" loops voting although they've lost 7 of 12, three via the forfeit route due to the use of an ineligible player. Willshire, with 10 straight wins, topped the Class B list, with only a few writers voting in that category.

From here and there: John Milhoan, 6-3 star of Gallopis' unbeaten Blue Devils, was held to 28 points—low for the season—in the 67-46 win over Nelsonville. He has 238 for seven games, an average of 34. His string of free throws was broken at 25 when he missed his second attempt against the Greyhounds.

The point-getters had a busy week as they returned to action after the holidays. Gene Bennett of Chesterhill scored 43 against Reinersville. Arnold McCoy of South Webster 42 against Otway. Gary Harper of Pleasant City 37 against Old Washington, and Larry Shaw of Waynesfield 34 against Harrod. Four of Shaw's came in an over-time for a 66-64 win.

Gallopis' win over Nelsonville was its 40th in a row in the South-eastern Ohio League. Pomeroy broke a long streak in the same circuit, defeating Elliston 38-36 for its first victory in 24 starts.

John Kuenzel of St. Marys came up with the week's most resounding field goal. With only two seconds to go in an overtime he dropped the two-pointer which beat Defiance 64-62 and gave St. Marys its ninth straight conquest. Kuenzel scored 20 for the evening.

History backfires! A year ago Portsmouth was leading the weekly poll with nine straight wins, but Columbus East snapped the string by 60-56. Saturday night Portsmouth returned the compliment by halting Columbus East at eight in a row.

Akron South, regional semi-finalist a year ago, is rolling again. All-Ohio Jim Darrow, with a 20.6 average, has paced the club to five straight wins and 84.4 points per game. All five starters are averaging 12 or better.

Here is how Ohio's sports writers rate the state's high school basketball teams. Figures in parentheses denote first place votes.

FOR A "SOCIAL OUTCAST," Alfred Vanderbilt's chestnut gelding sure gets invited around. The horse, a one-time "work" horse for Native Dancer, skinned over 12,000 miles to compete in eight states and 15 race tracks from east to west, north and south, in 1955. And Social Outcast compiled a fine record, too, winning seven stakes and the Handicap champion's role of 1955. He's now at Hialeah, for more glory and money. (International)

Dons, Dayton Still Listed As Nation's Best

NEW YORK (AP)—The San Francisco Dons, who will be seeking their 38th consecutive victory to-night against Santa Clara, still are the nation's best college basketball team. But Dayton isn't far behind.

That's the opinion of the sports writers who participated in this week's Associated Press poll.

Among 118 ballots, the Dons picked up 94 first-place votes and 16 seconds. Dayton drew 12 firsts and 76 seconds.

On the basis of 10 points for first place, 9 for second, etc., San Francisco piled up 1,145 points and Dayton 1,026. Each team is unbeaten in 11 games.

North Carolina State, upended by Duke Saturday night, dropped down a notch to third place with one first and 692 points. Duke's surprise triumph moved it from 11th to 6th.

Vanderbilt clung to 4th place, followed by Kentucky. Ohio State climbed from 10th to 7th. Then came Illinois, North Carolina and Temple.

North Carolina, beaten by Wake Forest, fell from 5th place. George Washington, formerly 7th, was beaten by Maryland and Richmond and wound up in 14th place. Iowa State, No. 8 a week ago, lost to Kansas State and fell to 15th.

Ortiz Collects Unanimous Nod

NEW YORK (AP)—Carlos Ortiz, 19, unbeaten Puerto Rican, fought his second main event last night and won a unanimous decision in eight rounds over Ray Portilla of New York.

Ortiz weighed 135 pounds to Portilla's 141.

Referee Peter Della and judge Joe Agnello voted 6-2 and judge Harold Barnes 5-2-1.

FOR A "SOCIAL OUTCAST," Alfred Vanderbilt's chestnut gelding sure gets invited around. The horse, a one-time "work" horse for Native Dancer, skinned over 12,000 miles to compete in eight states and 15 race tracks from east to west, north and south, in 1955. And Social Outcast compiled a fine record, too, winning seven stakes and the Handicap champion's role of 1955. He's now at Hialeah, for more glory and money. (International)

Dons, Dayton Still Listed As Nation's Best

NEW YORK (U)—The San Francisco Dons, who will be seeking their 38th consecutive victory tonight against Santa Clara, still are the nation's best college basketball team. But Dayton isn't far behind.

That's the opinion of the sports writers who participated in this week's Associated Press poll.

Among 118 ballots, the Dons picked up 94 first-place votes and 16 seconds. Dayton drew 12 firsts and 76 seconds.

On the basis of 10 points for first place, 9 for second, etc., San Francisco piled up 1,145 points and Dayton 1,026. Each team is unbeaten in 11 games.

North Carolina State, upended by Duke Saturday night, dropped down a notch to third place with one first and 692 points. Duke's surprise triumph moved it from 11th to 6th.

Vanderbilt clung to 4th place, followed by Kentucky. Ohio State climbed from 10th to 7th. Then came Illinois, North Carolina and Temple.

North Carolina, beaten by Wake Forest, fell from 5th place. George Washington, formerly 7th, was beaten by Maryland and Richmond and wound up in 14th place. Iowa State, No. 8 a week ago, lost to Kansas State and fell to 15th.

Ortiz Collects Unanimous Nod

NEW YORK (U)—Carlos Ortiz, 19, unbeaten Puerto Rican, fought his second main event last night and won a unanimous decision in eight rounds over Ray Portilla of New York.

Ortiz weighed 135 pounds to Portilla's 141.

Referee Peter Della and judge Joe Agnello voted 6-2 and judge Harold Barnes 5-2-1.

A crowd of 1,700 paid $2,626 to see the televised bout.

Monday Night Fights New Probe Target

NEW YORK (U)—With the Boxing Guild of New York in full retreat, Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, is concentrating his fire on the Monday night fights.

Yesterday he ordered the commission counsel William P. Thomas to prepare charges against promoters Tex Sullivan and Willie Gilzenberg and their London Sporting Club, which runs the televised Monday fights at St. Nicholas Arena, "on the Maryland situation and other matters."

Last week Helfand said he intended to investigate to see if the St. Nick's promoters violated the law forbidding association with known criminals when they tried to move to Baltimore, effective Jan. 23. The attempted move was nullified by Maryland Gov. McKeldin, who forced his commission to reverse itself.

St. Nick's will be in business at the same old stand for at least one more week, however. A middleweight match between England's John L. Sullivan and New York's Tony Johnson has been approved for Jan. 16. Other matches may be approved, pending a final decision on the investigation.

It was Helfand's Jan. 16 deadline for managers to quit the guild that forced the St. Nick's promoters to try to move to Baltimore when they could make no New York matches. Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, broke the deadlock Friday when he sided with Helfand.

Mangrum Pockets $6,000 Purse

LOS ANGELES (U)—Lloyd Mangrum, his bank account fattened by $6,000 off his fourth victory in a Los Angeles Open, says he is back in sound physical shape and aiming at further conquests.

Mangrum made it a start to finish triumph in winning by 3 strokes the Los Angeles fixture, beginning with two straight 66s, then a 68 and a one over par 72 that was good enough to stand up at the windup of the 30th annual event.

Lloyd's final 72 gave him a 72-hole total of 272. He held a 5-stroke lead over Tommy Bolt and Jerry Barber, beginning the final round

Johnny Farrell, Jr., son of the former U. S. Open golf champion, is an Air Force lieutenant in Korea. He has a set of golf clubs with him and if the occasion presents itself next spring he hopes to qualify for the U. S. Open.

Money, Ike Said Bender's Big Anti-Lausche Weapons

By JAMES B. SIBBISON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Backers of Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) are counting on heavy political ammunition for the anticipated all-out race against Gov. Frank J. Lausche next fall.

The chief Bender campaign weapons—according to an excellent source—may be listed as follows:

1. Money. The Bender source said this wasn't plentiful enough in the close campaign against Democrat Thomas A. Burke in 1954. There will be lots more, he said, this year.
2. Eisenhower administration support. Bender has made a fetish of 100 per cent backings of administration proposals, both in the House and Senate. He got endorsements from the President and his Cabinet about a month ago, and can be expected to call on some of the Cabinet officers to go to bat for him in Ohio stumping.
3. Gloves-off attacks on Lausche's record as a governor. The technique here, interestingly enough, will be Bender reading critical editorials on Lausche from newspapers. But apart from all of these, the Bender people are particularly hopeful about Ohio's political climate. Historically, they point out, Democratic candidates just don't get elected senator in Ohio very often, not since 1934 in fact. To that last statement, of course, Democrats have a ready reply: That Lausche is no ordinary democrat, but the party's champ vote-getter.

In particular, they quickly point out the shaky victory that Bender won over a lesser known man, Burke.

As might be expected, the Bender forces have an answer to that, too. Summed up, it is: 1956 is not the same as 1954. The point here is that Bender backers have insisted repeatedly that he won against Burke when Republican senators in states around him—Homer Ferguson in Michigan and John Cooper in Kentucky—were losing.

This year, they say, there isn't the "recession" they had last time that hurt them among industrial workers.

The farmers? Bender is known to be counting heavily on them. It's his opinion, his backers contend, that in Ohio, unlike some other states, the farmers are pretty happy and safely GOP.

Japanese Farmers To Tour America

TOKYO (AP)—Seventeen young Japanese farmers will arrive in the United States Monday to live and work on American farms for the next 10 months.

The young farmers are en route to Los Angeles on the Japanese ship America Maru. They will go to New York City for a week and then will travel to farms across the nation.

Five will work on farms in Michigan, two in Indiana. Others will go to Oregon, Missouri, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia, New Hampshire, Colorado, Ohio, Illinois and Minnesota.

Money, Ike Said Bender's Big Anti-Lausche Weapons

By JAMES B. SIBBISON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Backers of Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) are counting on heavy political ammunition for the anticipated all-out race against Gov. Frank J. Lausche next fall.

The chief Bender campaign weapons—according to an excellent source—may be listed as follows:

1. Money. The Bender source said this wasn't plentiful enough in the close campaign against Democrat Thomas A. Burke in 1954. There will be lots more, he said, this year.
2. Eisenhower administration support. Bender has made a fetish of 100 per cent backings of administration proposals, both in the House and Senate. He got endorsements from the President and his Cabinet about a month ago, and can be expected to call on some of the Cabinet officers to go to bat for him in Ohio stumpings.
3. Gloves-off attacks on Lausche's record as a governor. The technique here, interestingly enough, will be Bender reading critical editorials on Lausche from newspapers.

But apart from all of these, the Bender people are particularly hopeful about Ohio's political climate. Historically, they point out, Democratic candidates just don't get elected senator in Ohio very often, not since 1934 in fact.

To that last statement, of course, Democrats have a ready reply: That Lausche is no ordinary democrat, but the party's champ vote-getter.

In particular, they quickly point out the shaky victory that Bender won over a lesser known man, Burke.

As might be expected, the Bender forces have an answer to that, too. Summed up, it is: 1956 is not the same as 1954.

The point here is that Bender backers have insisted repeatedly that he won against Burke when Republican senators in states around him—Homer Ferguson in Michigan and John Cooper in Kentucky—were losing.

This year, they say, there isn't the "recession" they had last time that hurt them among industrial workers.

The farmers' record is known to be counting heavily on that. It's his opinion, his backers contend, that in Ohio, unlike some other states, the farmers are pretty happy and safely GOP.

Japanese Farmers To Tour America
TOKYO (AP)—Seventeen young Japanese farmers will arrive in the United States Monday to live and work on American farms for the next 10 months.

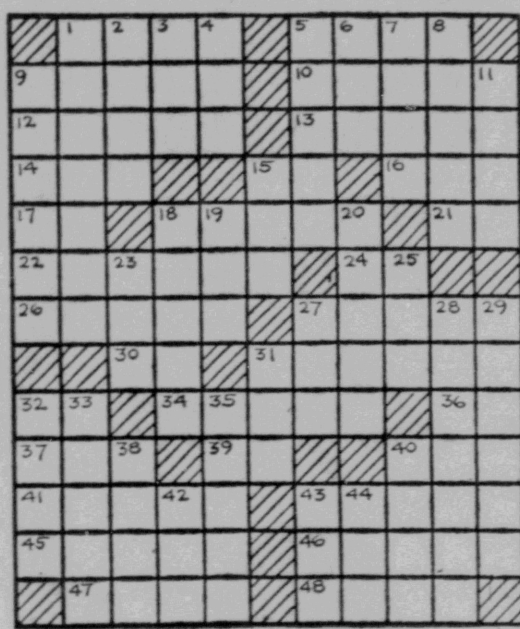

The young farmers are en route to Los Angeles on the Japanese ship America Maru. They will go to New York City for a week and then will travel to farms across the nation.

Five will work on farms in Michigan, two in Indiana. Others will go to Oregon, Missouri, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia, New Hampshire, Colorado, Ohio, Illinois and Minnesota.

Safer Driving Need Stressed

Union FB Council
Eyes Traffic Toll

Before we can be safer behind the steering wheel, all of us must learn to be better drivers.

That was the major point brought out in a discussion of ways to cut down the deaths and injuries on our highways. The discussion highlighted a meeting of the Union Township Farm Bureau Council Number 1 at the home of Mrs. Icy Huchison.

Better driving is not the sole key to reducing the slaughter on America's highways, the group emphasized. Other approaches would include better roads and more vigorous enforcement of laws, especially speed laws.

But the approach that all of us can take is to improve our driving, the group agreed. First step would be educational, training drivers to cope with emergencies they might meet at any time.

A QUESTIONNAIRE of ten such emergencies was presented at the meeting. They were:

(1) You're going down a steep hill. You step on the brakes. They don't work. The car goes faster and faster.

(2) It's night. You're driving along a straight road. A car with its bright lights on comes over a hill. The lights shine right in your eyes. You flip your lights on and off. The other driver won't dim his.

(3) You're doing about 40 on the straightaway. A tire blows out.

(4) You're out on the highway, doing about 50. You come to a crossroad. A car shoots out in front of you from the right. You don't have time to stop.

(5) You're on your side of a two-lane highway, going fast. A car comes at you, straddling the white line. You swerve to the right. Your right front wheel runs off the pavement onto the low shoulder.

(6) It's night. You're doing 45 on a road you've never traveled before. Without warning, you come to a sharp curve.

(7) You're driving along on icy pavement. You see a chuckhole and goes into a skid to the right.

(8) You're in the passing lane of a four-lane highway. You reach an intersection. The car you were about to pass turns left in front of you. There aren't any other cars close to you.

(9) You're driving on a two-lane highway. Ahead of you, on the shoulder at the right side of the road, a boy is riding a bicycle. The bike suddenly starts to swerve in front of you. There's nothing coming toward you in the other lane.

(10) You're driving on a two-lane highway. A car coming toward you weaves a little, then heads directly at you, in your lane.

TEN MEMBERS of the group were asked what they would do in the sample situations and their answers were compared with those of the experts who had prepared the questionnaire.

As one member of the council reported, "The rating was very favorable to our drivers."

Among the statistics brought into the discussion were figures on motor vehicle fatalities on roads in the state and the nation. In 1954, the last year for which complete figures were available, 1,883 persons died on Ohio roads. In the same year, 36,000 were killed in auto accidents all over the nation.

The discussion followed a supper served by the hostess, Mrs. Huchison, and by Mrs. E. J. Cunningham.

CD Gives Out Assignments

Reorganized Group
Plans Meeting Soon

The recently reorganized Civil Defense organization here has a meeting scheduled Jan. 26 for all officers in Fayette County and Washington C. H., according to C. V. Sexton, director for this area.

At a recent meeting assignments were handed out to several persons now working on the revamped CD group.

Robert F. McCallister is deputy director. In charge of recruiting for rescue work is George Montgomery.

Coyt Stookey will be handling police activities of the CD unit, with Loren Sheridan in charge of communications.

Working with the group is Lyle Sowders, chief observer for the Ground Observer Corps.

The organization members have been working on reorganization for the past two months, Sexton said. Although the basic organization was started back in 1950, there has not been a great deal of activity or interest in recent years.

With renewed interest on the part of the state and area organizations, Sexton said, local units throughout the state have been increasing their activity.

Poet's Corner

BROKEN

Any thing that is broken,
Is never as good as new;
China, glass or a promise,
Or a friendship that was true;

There will always be a flaw,
In the value of the thing—
Object, promise, friendship,
Will never have a true ring;

They all may be well mended
And look almost as before,
But value has diminished,
Time does not the break restore.

Friends Helping Blind Musician In Hospital Here

Carl Johnson, the blind musician familiar to hundreds of Fayette Countians, today is on the mend in Memorial Hospital after a pair of operations which may have saved his life.

But Carl will be faced with a new problem on his release from the hospital—the problem of the bills that have mounted to about $600 so far.

Some of Carl's friends have decided to offer a helping hand, and are taking up a collection to ease the burden on him.

Said Roland Hites, one of the originators of the collection, "Carl has been making his way in spite of his handicap—better than a lot of us who have our sight. But he needs help on this thing."

So far, he and Charles Pensyl and others who want to help Johnson have collected some $300, Hites reported.

"That's about half what we need now," he said. "But the bills keep going up, right along with the fund."

The Old Slater Mill, built in 1783 at Pawtucket, I. R., is open to visitors.

Safer Driving Need Stressed

Union FB Council
Eyes Traffic Toll

Before we can be safer behind the steering wheel, all of us must learn to be better drivers.

That was the major point brought out in a discussion of ways to cut down the deaths and injuries on our highways. The discussion highlighted a meeting of the Union Township Farm Bureau Council Number 1 at the home of Mrs. Icy Huchison.

Better driving is not the sole key to reducing the slaughter on America's highways, the group emphasized. Other approaches would include better roads and more vigorous enforcement of laws, especially speed laws.

But the approach that all of us can take is to improve our driving, the group agreed. First step would be educational, training drivers to cope with emergencies they might meet at any time.

A QUESTIONNAIRE of ten such emergencies was presented at the meeting. They were:

(1) You're going down a steep hill. You step on the brakes. They don't work. The car goes faster and faster.

(2) It's night. You're driving along a straight road. A car with its bright lights on comes over a hill. The lights shine right in your eyes. You flip your lights on and off. The other driver won't dim his.

(3) You're doing about 40 on the straightaway. A tire blows out.

(4) You're out on the highway, doing about 50. You come to a crossroad. A car shoots out in front of you from the right. You don't have time to stop.

(5) You're on your side of a two-lane highway, going fast. A car comes at you, straddling the white line. You swerve to the right. Your right front wheel runs off the pavement onto the low shoulder.

(6) It's night. You're doing 45 on a road you've never traveled before. Without warning, you come to a sharp curve.

(7) You're driving along on icy pavement. You see a chuckhole and goes into a skid to the right.

(8) You're in the passing lane of a four-lane highway. You reach an intersection. The car you were about to pass turns left in front of you. There aren't any other cars close to you.

(9) You're driving on a two-lane highway. Ahead of you, on the shoulder at the right side of the road, a boy is riding a bicycle. The bike suddenly starts to swerve in front of you. There's nothing coming toward you in the other lane.

(10) You're driving on a two-lane highway. A car coming toward you weaves a little, then heads directly at you, in your lane.

TEN MEMBERS of the group were asked what they would do in the sample situations and their answers were compared with those of the experts who had prepared the questionnaire.

As one member of the council reported, "The rating was very favorable to our drivers."

Among the statistics brought in to the discussion were figures on motor vehicle fatalities on roads in the state and the nation. In 1954, the last year for which complete figures were available, 1,883 persons died on Ohio roads. In the same year, 36,000 were killed in auto accidents all over the nation.

The discussion followed a supper served by the hostess, Mrs. Huchison, and by Mrs. E. J. Cunningham.

He was chosen to succeed himself by the directors who were elected at the annual stockholders meeting Monday afternoon.

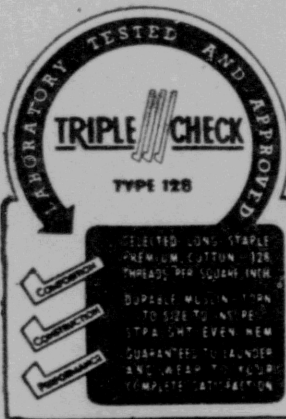

On the board of directors for the coming year are Ervin, Frank Hidy, Warren Williams, Mrs. Marie Smith Ropp, Forrest Smith, Hays Allen and Ray Maddox.

CD Gives Out Assignments

Reorganized Group
Plans Meeting Soon

The recently reorganized Civil Defense organization here has a meeting scheduled Jan. 26 for all officers in Fayette County and Washington C. H., according to C. V. Sexton, director for this area.

At a recent meeting assignments were handed out to several persons now working on the revamped CD group.

Robert F. McCallister is deputy director. In charge of recruiting for rescue work is George Montgomery.

Coyt Stookey will be handling police activities of the CD unit, with Loren Sheridan in charge of communications.

Working with the group is Lyle Sowders, chief observer for the Ground Observer Corps.

The organization members have been working on reorganization for the past two months, Sexton said. Although the basic organization was started back in 1950, there has not been a great deal of activity or interest in recent years.

With renewed interest on the part of the state and area organizations, Sexton said, local units throughout the state have been increasing their activity.

Poet's Corner

BROKEN

Any thing that is broken,
Is never as good as new;
China, glass or a promise,
Or a friendship that was true;

There will always be a flaw,
In the value of the thing—
Object, promise, friendship,
Will never have a true ring;

They all may be well mended
And look almost as before,
But value has diminished,
Time does not the break restore.

Friends Helping Blind Musician In Hospital Here

Carl Johnson, the blind musician familiar to hundreds of Fayette Countians, today is on the mend in Memorial Hospital after a pair of operations which may have saved his life.

But Carl will be faced with a new problem on his release from the hospital—the problem of the bills that have mounted to about $600 so far.

Some of Carl's friends have decided to offer a helping hand, and are taking up a collection to ease the burden on him.

Said Roland Hites, one of the originators of the collection, "Carl has been making his way in spite of his handicap—better than a lot of us who have our sight. But he needs help on this thing."

So far, he and Charles Pensyl and others who want to help Johnson have collected some $300, Hites reported.

"That's about half what we need now," he said. "But the bills keep going up, right along with the fund."

The Old Slater Mill, built in 1793 at Pawtucket, I. R., is open to visitors.
